will be suspended for six months. Do you agree with that?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: That would be correct, yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And if a minor is enmeshed in the law, ensnared in the law I should say, and a judge decides to suspend the sentence or put the minor on probation, then the court is ordered to impound the minor's driver's license for six months. Is that correct?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: I...I believe that is correct, yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: What is the penalty for driving under suspension, if you know?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: Off the top of my head, I do not know.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: It's six months in jail. What is the penalty for driving if a license is impounded?

SENATOR QUANDAHL: You'll have to tell me. Actually...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, I'm not sure.

SENATOR QUANDAHL: ...actually, I don't believe that there is a penalty for driving while a license is impounded. What the penalty is, is for driving without the actual operator's license not on your person.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And if you're driving without the actual license that is not an offense that will take away points, but here's what I want to ask you. If what I say is accurate about driving on a suspended license, if the punishment is six months, is it your intent, in addition to putting...having the individual who is a minor convicted of a Class III misdemeanor, which is a crime, not a traffic infraction but a crime, even though infractions are crimes, this is a sure enough crime, you will suspend the license for six months? And then, if the youngster is caught driving on suspension he or she can go to jail for six months. You want to heap up punishment after punishment on these young people. Isn't that true?
